

What are People Doing with their Brains?©

The box to the left suggests how we should be using our brains —thinking about simple concepts that are deeply meaningful, contributing to our eternal reward.

The box to the right is what many are doing with their brains —thinking about simple concepts that have very little value, contributing to no eternal reward.

Ravi Zacharias stated on 20 April 14: There is the potential of rest; ↑ Where there is redemption, ↑ There is the potential of redemption; ↑ Where there is the Savior, ↑ There is the Savior; ↑ Where there is pain, ↑ There is the potential of pain; ↑ Where there is love, ↑ There is the potential of love; ↑ Where there is freedom,	1. “If you love me, you’ll text me.” 2. “If it isn’t happening right now —it isn’t happening.”  4. “There’s an ocean aware of itself.” Morgan Freeman
--	---

To upgrade one’s appetite may I suggest:

Hurling Toward Oblivion: A Logical Argument for the End of the Age

(antidote for 2. And 4.)

Margin: Restoring Emotional, Physical, Financial, and Time Reserves to Overloaded Lives (antidote for emoticon superficiality)

“If you love Me, you will obey Me” Jn 14:23-24

(antidote for all political correctness, misguided loyalties, and techno-utopian delusion)